New [illegible]en[illegible] or [illegible]ration W[illegible]ase [illegible]as been [illegible]rawn [illegible] Names Are No[illegible] Ma[illegible] [illegible] [illegible]ccore[illegible] [illegible]ce W[illegible] Court's [illegible]nstruct[illegible]ons.

Early this morning the deputies of the sheriff's office will begin the service of the subpoenas commanding the attendance of the new panel of jurors in the Stratton case at the opening of the district court tomorrow morning. After working all night Saturday and all of yesterday, County Treasurer [illegible] A. Pot[illegible] turned over to the county commissioners a list of nearly 4,000 male taxpayers of the county, from which in turn the county commissioners certified to District Clerk Clyd[illegible] Starrett 500 names from which was drawn the panel of 100 ordered by Judge Seeds.

Owing to the fact that service of subpoenas on Sunday is not legal and any such subpoenas would not be binding the sheriff did nothing on Sunday but sort out the names into routes for each deputy. The work of sorting was thus much simplified and Sheriff [illegible] expressed yesterday that he would have no difficulty in getting the notices into the hands of the panel in time to secure their attendance tomorrow at 10 o'clock in hour set by the court.

No other legal publicity in connection with the jury or its summons appears at this time and it is understood that the regular examination will begin tomorrow.

Court Suppresses Publicity

Contrary to the usual custom in such cases the list of jurors drawn out by District Clerk Starrett was not given to the press and it was announced by the sheriff that such had been the order of Judge Seeds in the premises.

This action is the result of the injunction issued by Judge Seeds on Saturday wherein he ordered that nothing should be printed in any paper that would in any way forecast the outcome of the suit or tend to influence public opinion in favor of one side or the other. His injunction covered the giving out of the list of jurors upon the theory that the publication of the names would have a pernicious influence upon the men in advance.

The adjournment of the suit in the Stratton case from Saturday till tomorrow has brought about a lull in the proceedings of the [illegible] so outward appearances go, except the storm of the first few days has blown itself out. It is felt however that the first storm broke without any warning would indicate that the absence of lowering clouds at this time is no assurance of clear weather.

If the fight for the bench of jurors and the first speech to the jury be entered into tomorrow, men familiar with all signs would seem to indicate the proceedings of the day will not be less interesting than they have been of late.

The attorneys for both sides who are here from Denver left for home Saturday evening and will not return until tonight.

Judge Hogan was the only exception and he remained over for the purpose of attending to the jury summons and perhaps to other preliminaries that might be necessary.

Washington, March 29. Minister Bowen hopes to begin work during the present week with the diplomatic representatives of the Venezuelan blockading powers on the protocol for sending to The Hague arbitration tribunal the question whether these nations shall have preferential treatment in the payment of claims of their citizens against Venezuela.

Mr. Bowen heretofore has submitted to the British ambassador the draft of a protocol for the purpose stated, a notable feature of which is that the court of arbitration shall name the members of the court. It is known that the allies intend to offer some amendments to the draft prepared by Venezuela's representative but their nature has not been made known, although one of them is believed to be regarding the proposition relative to the czar, as there is thought to be some objection on their parts to that monarch assuming the function of naming the members of the court.

Mr. Bowen is anxious to have the work completed as soon as possible and will urge this on the powers representatives. According to the terms of the protocol of 1903 the first payment of the 30 per cent of the customs receipts of La Guayra and Puerto Cabello for the month of March are to be paid to the representative of the Bank of England at Caracas on the first of April. This will form the nucleus of the fund with which is to be paid the claims of the various nations that are adjudicated by the mixed commissions which are to sit at Caracas.

[illegible]

[illegible] OF PRESIDENT [illegible] SWIFT, MACNAMARE PACKER

[illegible]

[illegible] STATEMENT [illegible]

To the press: In view of the great public interest in the strike of the millmen at Cripple Creek and the resulting [illegible] which now so [illegible] the Cripple Creek [illegible] the [illegible] to involve the entire industrial interests of the state, [illegible] who have been directly [illegible] in the endeavor to bring about an amicable adjustment of the differences have authorized me to make an authoritative statement to the public of the present status of the negotiations for peace.

Up to the present time, the negotiations have [illegible] of such a character that all the parties interested, including the representatives of each side of the controversy, have thought that it would be detrimental to the cause to make such public statement, but at a meeting held this morning it was deemed advisable to set at rest the various conflicting reports which have been published and which to some extent have served to increase rather than to diminish the tension, which is now at the danger point.

As soon as the members of the governor's advisory board were sufficiently advised of the real causes of the strike, they concluded that if the parties could be brought together in a heart to heart talk it might result in an amicable adjustment of their differences. This belief was strengthened by the fact that the board was of the opinion that such differences were too slight to be the cause of involving this state in an industrial war.

Victor's Map Asked.

In order that we might be fully advised of the conditions in all parts of the district now affected by the strike we requested the business men of the town of Victor in the Cripple Creek district to appoint a committee to assist the board in its endeavor to bring about a settlement. This committee has been with us for the last three days and has rendered most valuable service. It consists of Mayor Nelson Franklin, J. E. Cunningham, Thomas Cornish, J. A. Gardner and H. C. Moore, each and all of whom have worked night and day in the effort to avert the impending calamity from the Cripple Creek district. Too much credit cannot be given to this committee individually and collectively for the zealous, self sacrificing efforts they have made in his behalf.

Many private conferences have been held the latter part of the week, at all of which the following parties have been present with the advisory board: Charles M. MacNeill, vice president and general manager of the United States Reduction and Refining company; Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners; Nelson Franklin, chairman Business Men's committee of Victor.

I have no hesitancy in saying that all of these parties have worked unselfishly for the purpose of bringing about an adjustment.

Both Mr. MacNeill and Mr. Moyer have fully stated at these meetings the positions of the bodies represented respectively by them and both have been desirous of making concessions for the purpose of harmony and where concessions have not been made each has fully stated the reasons why such concessions were refused. We believe that these meetings have resulted in bringing about a better understanding between the parties though, unfortunately, no adjustment has as yet been arrived at. At times it seemed to the board that an agreement would certainly be made within a few hours, but at other times the prospect of reaching an agreement has seemed to be very small.

[illegible] Written Agreement.

The fact that Mr. Moyer agreed at [illegible] to sign a written agreement [illegible] board. A written agreement has not been contemplated for this and other [illegible].

We believe that an amicable arrangement may be made between the parties within the next [illegible] days, based [illegible] primarily upon the fact that the difference seems one of form as to the agreement rather than upon the result which we think will be certain to follow if either of the propositions given below shall be adopted. The principal contention at this time is as to a limit of time within which men who have been discharged or are upon a strike shall be taken back. It appears to us that the difference is one of form merely, for the reason that we think as soon as the boycott is taken off the increased shipment of ores to the Colorado City mills from the Cripple Creek district will necessitate the employment of all the men who have had experience in mill work.

The offer of the Business Men's committee of Victor to give employment in the Cripple Creek district to all former employes at the Standard mill who are now out of work at a wage of $3 a day ought to simplify the matter of employment very much. Aside from this we are informed that the Telluride mill at Colorado City will start up the first day of April and furnish employment to not less than 50 men.

Yesterday's Meeting.

At 11 o'clock today the meeting of the board and parties attending, to wit, Mr. Moyer, Mr. MacNeill and Mr. Franklin, was adjourned until 10 o'clock Monday evening at the Alamo hotel. In the meantime, President Moyer will visit Denver for the purpose of conferring with his associates, returning to Colorado City tomorrow afternoon when the matter will again be taken up by the Mill and Smeltermen's union of that place.

In conclusion the board desires to thank all those who have so generously assisted it in its labors and to acknowledge in particular the aid rendered by the Hon. Francis J. Crane, Mayor of Cripple Creek. We think there is good reason for the hope that the differences may be adjusted at the conference which is to be held Monday evening and would make a final appeal to all parties to take no step that will intensify the feeling now existing, at least until the result of tomorrow night's conference shall be known.

Attached exhibit A shows the terms submitted by the men and exhibit B gives the terms of settlement now conceded by Mr. MacNeill.

Very respectfully,

Charles D. Hayt, Chairman.

Dated, Colorado Springs, Colo., March 29, 1903.

MINER MAKES AFFIDAVIT OF A DYNAMITE PLOT

By Associated Press.

Charleston, S. C., March 29.—Deputy United States Marshal Dan Cunningham returned today from Raleigh county where he has been serving writs upon the strikers, indicted by the recent special grand jury in connection with the trouble at Stanaford. Marshal Cunningham states that he has in his possession evidence in the shape of an affidavit from a former member of the Miners union of an alleged plot to dynamite the drift mines of W. P. Rend, in Fayette county, while the mines were filled with men and mules, and then to surprise and attack the mine guards on duty at the Rend works.

The affidavit is made by James Berry, a miner, who attended the meetings of the strikers where the alleged plots were said to have been discussed and adopted. The affidavit was made to E. L. Walker, a notary public of Fayette county, and the names of a number of strikers who took part in the meetings are given. It is stated that further investigation will be made for evidence to present to the grand jury.

MINERS ARE INTERESTED IN THE COAL PRICE LIST

By Associated Press.

Scranton, Pa., March 29.—No one is looking forward more anxiously than the miner to Thursday when the operators issue the April circular which will contain the price list on which rates for coal will be based for a year.

Invariably on April 1 the price has dropped 50 cents on April 1, and increased 10 cents a month after that for five months, when the 50-cent drop is recouped and continues stationary for the winter. Coal is now selling for $6. If it is cut to $4.50 and advances 10 cents a month until September, the miners under the award of the strike commission will next winter be receiving a 20 per cent advance over the present rates of pay, as they are to get a 3 per cent advance for every advance of five cents a ton that coal takes in excess of $4.50.

Seattle, Wash., March 29.—After laboring all day, the representatives of the Seattle Electric company, the representatives of organized labor and the committee of business men who are striving to settle the strike of the street car men called to reach an understanding and another meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce, to continue the efforts to reach a peaceful solution of the matter.

The same old stumbling block that has stood in the way of a settlement ever since Wednesday was encountered today. Organized labor says none but union men can be employed by the company. The company says that while it will not discriminate against union men that it will not agree to employ only union men and reserves the right to employ any man who is competent, be he union or non-union man.

CONSISTORY TO BE APPOINTED WITHIN ONE MONTH

By Associated Press.

Rome, March 29.—The pope has expressed his intention of holding a consistory at the end of April or the beginning of May, a consistory being especially necessary for the appointment of bishops. Nothing has yet been decided as to the nomination of the new card nals and there may be none. Even if some cardinals are created there is nothing definite in regard to foreigners. The only names mentioned are Monsignors Nocella and Pericoli, the domestic prelates of the pontiff, Monsignor Tallani, the papal nuncio at Vienna and Monsignor Augri, the papal nuncio at Lisbon.

The cardinals of the congregation of the propaganda has been informed that a meeting will be held on April 6, at which the appointments of coadjutor bishops of St. Louis and Cincinnati will be discussed and confirmed. Bishop Hogan of Kansas City, is almost sure to be appointed coadjutor archbishop of St. Louis, upon which post Cardinal Satolli will report. Regarding the Cincinnati appointment on which Cardinal Martinelli will make a report, there is some competition between Bishop Moeller of Columbus, Ohio and Bishop Maes of Covington, Ky. It is believed that the former has the better chance, especially as his appointment is preferred by Archbishop Elder.

Sports and Sporing Notes

[illegible] W[illegible]

Over a thousand people bid defiance to the threatening weather of yesterday afternoon to go out to Boulevard park and see the Millionaires get their first drubbing of the season at the hands of D. C. Packard's Denver Grizzlies. The score of 16 to 10 in favor of Denver is a fair statement of the respective showing of the two organizations. The local team showed it was superior in practice to its opponents as soon as the first inning began, for none of the infielders seemed able to judge the ball.

The Grizzlies have been working for the past three weeks and were in far better form than the locals. Three pitchers are used on each side and substitutions were also made in backstops by the captains of each team. Denver had an abundance of players to work with. Palmer, a delegate for short on the Denverite aggregation was also given a work-out during the latter part of the game, succeeding Radcliff down between second and third.

All pitchers were touched up rather lively and with a strong wind blowing the hits were easily made safe ones.

The Denver aggregation this year may be better than that of last year but neither at the first glance nor at the second does this seem to be the case. Of course, all the old stars are there but the men should not make as many errors as characterized yesterday's game after three weeks' practice. Jones showed himself to be handy with the stick, making a double, a single and a home rub, the only one of the game.

For the home team Lumley did fair work at center but he will have to work some to become the equal of Hemphill. Nill and Francks at second and short are doing better work than did Lynch and Holly. Francks has very much the same bearing in playing his position as Holly had. The work of Villeman and Starnagle, two of the new ones in battery work, was up to the regular pitcher period standard.

McNeeley had to work in left field. If Flemming or Granville do not hurry up and blow in a pitcher will have to be used in the outfield all the time for several weeks as O'Brien was the victime of an accident just before the game was called yesterday and will be laid up for some time. In reaching for a high liner in practice he broke the middle finger of his left hand. The bone was chipped and Jack will be unable to do any work for a while.

[illegible] NEW [illegible]

By Associated Press.

Bristol, R. I., March 29.—Nearly one-half of the crew which is to man the Reliance arrived here from New York today. They are mostly Scandinavians, rugged, active-looking men who have had years of experience in racing on the coast. Temporary quarters for them were found in lodging houses, but later room for them will be provided on the steam tender Sunbeam, which vessel, with Captain Barr and the remainder of the crew, is expected here Friday. The men expressed anxiety to see the new boat which they are to man and were much disappointed when told that the shop was closed on Sunday.

A bit of rivalry cropped out today when a photographer appeared on the scene and proposed to take a photograph of the men. When he had grouped them to his fancy it developed that a few of the crew of the Constitution were to be included in the picture. This was not to the liking of the seamen of the Reliance, who insisted that their pictures should not include any members of a rival crew. The men are in charge of Second Mate George Peterson. Tomorrow they will begin the work of burnishing the plates of the underbody.

[illegible] BETWEEN [illegible]

By Associated Press.

San Francisco, March 29.—Eddie Graney, of San Francisco, was chosen tonight as referee of the Corbett-McGovern fight next Tuesday night. It was also agreed that if either contestant should claim a foul during the contest the referee should withhold his decision until two or more reputable physicians made a physical examination of the claimant. Interest in the fight now centers on the question whether Corbett can make the required weight of 127 pounds.

Corbett has been leading a strenuous existence the past few days. Earlier in his work he either misjudged the time required to discard his too solid flesh or the soft sides of the ropes where inviting benches tempted the weary pugilist to disregard the teachings of experience. The consequence has been that in the last few days he has been put to violent work to bring himself down.

One of the recent adjuncts to his gymnasium is a winter stove to assist in the promotion of perspiration. The club manager and Corbett's trainers insist he will make the mark all right, 127 pounds, at 4 p. m. Tuesday. There is no lack of confidence in the Corbett camp.

McGovern has trained assiduously and earnestly and the experts who figure on condition are inclined to favor his chances.

[illegible] BETWEEN [illegible]

The Corbett-McGovern fight scheduled for tomorrow night at San Francisco has pugilistic patrons guessing. The western boy is several pounds overweight and working hard to get down to 127 pounds while McGovern is willing the limit and has only to take enough exercise to keep in shape. The bout will decide the "featherweight" title and widespread interest is felt in the result. While opinions vary widely as to the outcome, most sporting men seem agreed that it will be a "punch fight." That is, that the first man to get his punch over rightly will win on his merits, and right on his skill at boxing. Each boy has a knock-out blow in either hand; both are hard, fast fighters. It is not likely that the referee will be troubled to decide the question of supremacy on points.

It is doubtful if any contest can show such a following of sporting men alighted in support of either man. No previous championship battle ever saw the contestants so close together in betting and favoritism. Nor was there ever a battle where authorities on the subject differed so widely on the probable result of the meeting.

It is likely that betting, among sporting men, will be even money and take your pick. But the volume of small bets likely to be cast in the Frisco poolrooms has already made McGovern a shade the shorter-priced man of the pair. It is probable that when the men enter the ring Terry will be the favorite over the champion.

This is another unusual incident in the history of the ring, where a beaten pugilist has never before been favorite over his conqueror upon the second meeting.

CHALLENGE WILL BE COMING HIS WAY

There will be many challenges heard to the winners of the Young Corbett-Terry McGovern fight. Already five fighters have been heard on the subject. Abe Attell, the California featherweight, Tim Callahan, of Philadelphia, Henny Yanger, of Chicago, Billy Maynard, of New York, and Kid Broad, of Cleveland, are the challengers to the present time. If McGovern wins, Yanger will get the first fight; if Corbett wins, Eddie Hanlon, of San Francisco, will likely be asked for another fight. Corbett is anxious to fight Hanlon again.

THE BREWERS ADOPT SOME UNIQUE RULES

2. No pop bottles will be allowed on the grounds.
3. Patrons who prefer may bring their own steins.
4. Steins may be checked at the gate when leaving.
5. Pop corn will be barred from the grounds.
6. Pop-up flies will not be counted in the game.
7. No water will be permitted on the ground except in case of fire.
8. Pop Anson will not be allowed on the grounds.

FERRYBOAT BURNED.

By Associated Press.

New York, March 29.—The double-decked ferryboat, Bound Brook, of the Central railroad of New Jersey was burned to the water's edge this afternoon. No passengers were aboard at the time the fire was discovered. The boat was out of commission for the day and was lying in her slip on the Jersey side. Tugs towed her into mid stream thus saving the other ferryboats in the slip.

A WAR AGAINST THE DEADLY AUTO

If the bill that has been presented to the Wisconsin legislature, for the regulation of automobiles, passes, there are hard times ahead for owners of this class of vehicles in the Badger state. The committee has made the bill even more drastic than the original measure and placed autos in the same class as steam threshers, engines attached to wood-sawing machines and other motor vehicles which inspire terror in the heart of the average country horse. In order that the victim of any accident should be able to collect damages the owner of the auto is made responsible for any damage caused by the machine no matter who is driving it. This section is based on the theory that the owner of an automobile is in nearly every case a man of property, who is able to pay any judgments obtained against him. Automobilists will make a hard fight against the bill.

The commencement ball for the benefit of the Colorado College Athletic association will be held at 1 North Cascade avenue on April 1 and 2. Messrs. Abbott, Gaddis and Bryant, who are in charge of the affair, are much pleased with the prospects. The ball promises to be one of the biggest of the kind ever held in Colorado Springs and from the promises of assistance and patronage that have been made a great ball will probably be added for the benefit of the association which is at the present time sadly in need of funds.

UNION BOAT CLUB DECIDES TO REINSTATE OARSMAN TITUS

By Associated Press.

New York, March 29.—The Union Boat club today reinstated C. S. Titus, the oarsman. The club passed a resolution which recited that there had been irregularity in his expulsion, and adding:

"That the said expulsion be vacated solely on the ground of such technical irregularity."

President Sinnott of the club said tonight:

"We want to be perfectly just in dealing with Mr. Titus but at the same time we do not concede accidents in watermanship as a sufficient reason for exemption from club discipline when it is desirable."

Titus brought suit in the courts to compel the club to reinstate him, and the matter was to be heard Tuesday of this week.

The technical irregularity mentioned was that Titus had only 28 days' notice of a trial when the constitution required 30 days' notice. The club wanted to try him because he had been talking through the newspapers about his management instead of filing formal complaint with the officials.

THREATEN STRIKE.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, March 29.—Structural iron workers, the men who are building the frame work of skyscrapers, threaten to tie up building operations in Chicago with a general strike Wednesday unless the contractors have refused to sign an agreement granting them an increase of 50 per cent in wages. The union has appointed a committee to meet the contractors tomorrow.

Know that in spite of hard work in the clear forest air the blood often becomes impure. The heavy food served in the lumber camps is to a great extent responsible for this condition of the blood; which renders the body an easy prey to many forms of disease. Sermons In Local Pulpits Yesterday

[illegible]ere Message [illegible]shop Ma[illegible]

In his Lenten pastoral to the clergy and laity of the Catholic church of Colorado, Bishop [illegible] upon the poverty of Christ as proof of the divine blessing of poverty, and Christian charity is ascribed as the solvent which will heal all the antagonism of society.

The sermon was read to the congregation of St. Mary's church in this city yesterday, by Rev. Hugh L. McMenamin, and was received as the Lenten message from the bishop to the members of his diocese in this city.

In opening his message Bishop Matz said:

"Beloved Brethren: Of all the mysteries encompassing the life of our divine savior, from his birth in the stable at Bethlehem to his death at Calvary, probably the most incomprehensible and therefore unto the world the mystery of mysteries is his voluntary poverty. That he, the king of kings, the lord of lords, the creator of heaven and earth, should have been fascinated by poverty to such an extent as to choose her for his spouse, forfeiting for her sake the joys of heaven, the comforts of earth and living with her in privation and want, such as falls to the lot of but few among the poor of this world—this the world will not understand. Listen to him describing his relations with this intimate spouse in his own striking manner: 'The foxes have their holes, and the birds of the air their nests; but the son of man hath no where to lay his head.' Matt. viii., 20."

In the further development of his sermon he said:

"The human family may be divided into three classes: The poor who are orphaned, sick or aged and who cannot help themselves; the laboring class, which under favorable circumstances, can and does provide for itself; the rich, whose bounden duty it is to help their less favored brethren—for thus did God bestow his riches upon them, and he will hold them responsible for anything misspent or squandered in luxury. They are God's purveyors, with a commission to attend to his own beloved class. Humanity with its innate infirmities will always produce the poor and it becomes the duty of the wealthy to make provision for them. And further, Christian charity under the inspiration and guidance of the church has solved the problem of the proletariat in its most frail, infirm and prostrate form, the orphan, the sick and the aged. We may now ask the question, How does it propose to solve the labor problem?

"In the battle of conflict between capital and labor Christian charity alone can mediate. The relations existing between them are of their very nature most intimate, since they mutually produce and foster one another; hence to separate them would be destructive to both. Hence it is reasonable that Christian charity alone can bring them together and hold them united by mutual concessions calculated to foster their common interests. They are partners who should unite their capital for the production of wealth. The capitalist furnishes the money, the laborer the muscle, and their combined energies produce wealth. We all know that by far the greater burden in this partnership is borne by the laborer, and justice demands that he should receive recognition for his services and a fair and equitable share in the profits obtained. In equity he is entitled to just wages which will enable him to maintain himself and family comfortably, to educate his children and to provide for the time when he may no longer be able to labor. But Christian charity would go one step further and allow the laborer a share in the profits, according to the partnership whose heaviest burden he must bear, furnishing the muscle and intelligent co-operation. This is not a new idea; the experiment has been tried both in Europe and in this country with most gratifying results. It gives the laborer an interest in the concern; it makes him employ all his energies for the welfare of the firm whose profits he is allowed to share by a real instead of an ideal partnership and disposes him to defend these interests if necessary with his blood. There is no doubt that a partnership of this character is productive of the most desirable results. It need not fear the effects of ruinous strikes. It forms a wall of steel around its workshops with a brother and a partner in every laborer in the employ of the company."

VISITING CLERGYMEN WHO WERE IN THE CITY

The pulpits of the First Presbyterian, the First Methodist Episcopal, the First Baptist and All Souls Unitarian churches were occupied yesterday by prominent preachers from Denver, Chicago and Victor. Rev. Horace E. Warner of Denver preached at the First Methodist church, both yesterday morning and evening; Rev. W. J. Davis of Victor occupied the First Presbyterian church pulpit both morning and evening; at the First Baptist church, Rev. Edwin Seldon of Chicago preached in the morning and the evening services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Edward Bruislin.

Rev. Charles St. John, secretary of the American Unitarian association, preached at the All Souls church in the afternoon, the morning service having been postponed to permit Mr. St. John and Rev. A. R. Scott, the pastor, to participate in an installation service at the First Unitarian church in Pueblo.

REV. H. A. JONES SPOKE ON "DIGNITY OF LABOR"

Rev. H. A. Jones preached on "The Dignity of Labor" at the Cumberland Presbyterian church yesterday, taking his text from Gen. 3:16-18, "Cursed is the ground for our sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life. In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return to the ground; for out of it was thou taken, for dust thou art and into dust shalt thou return."

Among other things, Mr. Jones said:

"All of God's conditions are disciplinary. How truly illustrated in the history of races and nations. The nation living in its soft effeminacy, yields its palm and glory to a hardier race. Through a lost Eden man became a creator, a thinker, a discoverer, an inventor. The daring Phoenician ventured through the pillars of Hercules and skirted along an unknown sea. The hardy Norseman plowed the icy seas and found new lands. Portuguese, Spanish and British seamen opened up new paths of commerce across trackless oceans and a little band of brave pioneers fringed the shores of a continent teeming with savages. Inch by inch, step by step they pushed their way to the Golden Gate. Truly it is the blessing of toil and labor and blood that enables us to say with joy that we are citizens of this great nation.

"The speaker referred to the growing contest between labor and capital and said the capital as represented in national and civil life spoke of toil and thrift and struggle. It told of sleepless nights, of weary days, of cautious investments, of economic pressure, of prudence and untiring perseverance, that the brain and brawn workers were the twin pillars of civilization upon which peace and happiness rests.

"He closed by saying that labor was God-like; it brought man into harmony with divine will and law, it brought him into brotherhood to the Christ who bore our sins, and carried our sorrows, it brought his reward of peace as the sequence of a well-spent life, and when the earth opened her generous arms to receive him to her embrace his redeemed spirit was already embraced within the everlasting arms of God."

JUDGE MORRIS LOST HIS HORSE AND BUGGY

Judge W. S. Morris reported to the police late yesterday afternoon that his horse and buggy had been stolen from in front of the First Methodist church, where he and his family had been in attendance.

About 6 o'clock the horse and buggy was discovered in the alley back of the police station where it had evidently been brought by those who had used it. They thus saved the police the necessity of looking after it. A telephone message notified the owner of his whereabouts.

OVERHAULING THE POLICE TELEPHONES

Owing to the exhaustion of the present batteries in the police patrol telephone system, a complete overhauling is planned for the near future. The system connects the police headquarters with the stables and the fire department and with the various city offices. The voice has become barely audible as a result of the running down of the batteries, and the overhauling is necessary to put the system in shape for effective use.

STRUCTURAL IRON WORKERS MAY EXTEND THE STRIKE

By Associated Press.

New York, March 29.—According to the officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers there is a possibility that the strike of structural iron workers against the American Bridge company may eventually throw 200,000 persons out of employment throughout the country. President Frank Buchanan and Secretary J. W. Johnson of the association attended the meeting of the Central Federation union today and talked about the strike.

"We will fight until we win," President Buchanan said. "We have the work of the company tied up as far as Canada is concerned and word has come from California that the unions there have fallen in line."

CURING CONSUMPTION.

When Scott's Emulsion makes the consumptive gain flesh it is curing his consumption.

Exactly what goes on inside to make the consumptive gain weight when taking Scott's Emulsion is still a mystery.

Scott's Emulsion does something to the lungs too that reduces the cough. More weight and less cough always mean that consumption is losing its influence over the system.

Scott's Emulsion is a reliable help.

REV. FATHER CARRIGAN PREACHED AT MANITOU

Father J. P. Carrigan of St. Patrick's church in Denver, occupied the pulpit of the Manitou Catholic church last night, and a large congregation greeted him. Father Carrigan is a member of the advisory board, appointed by Governor Peabody to investigate the strike. He is an eloquent speaker and one of the best known clergymen of the state.

DR. GREGG CONTINUED SERIES OF SERMONS

A large audience filled the First Congregational church last night to hear Rev. James B. Gregg, the pastor, deliver the second of his series of sermons on "The Best Ways of Living." Dr. Gregg chose for his subject last night, "The Best Ways of Recreation." A great deal of interest is being awakened in the series. Miss Ollie Thompson rendered a vocal solo on "Fear Ye Not, O Israel" during the service last night.

[illegible] REDEMPTION [illegible]

Work of the Campaign Is Progressing in Satisfactory Way.

Special to the Gazette.

Victor, March 29.—The local Democrats are feeling very confident that they will carry the coming election with their entire ticket. The workers are doing good work, while the campaign committee, composed of leading business men of the city, have been devoting most of their time to bringing about a settlement of the labor troubles, and when that work is complete, which is expected hourly, they will turn their attention to the campaign.

Nelson Franklin, chairman of the campaign committee, is expected home tonight, and will immediately take active charge of his portion of the work, and it is expected that things will move in a systematic and effective manner under his direction.

If there was any dissension at any time it has now been removed by the reorganization of the ticket, which it is believed now is satisfactory to everyone, even many Republicans believing that it will be to the best interests of the city to have it elected.

F. D. French, the Democratic candidate for mayor, is the manager of the Rio Grande sampler in this city, and is a candidate well selected for the position, being a business man of unusual ability, and he with the rest of the Democrats are a unit for the ticket now placed before the public for the coming election.

DISAPPOINTED DRAMATIST TRIED SUICIDE IN PARIS

By Associated Press.

Paris, March 29.—Another disappointed literateur attempted to commit suicide in a Paris theater last evening. Just as the second act of "L'Autre Danger," at the Theater Francais, was about to commence, the audience was startled by the report of a pistol shot, in the foyer where a man was seen to fall with a wound in his head. The would-be suicide proved to be a dramatist named Gustave Salary, aged 60 years. He resided at Ville Juif, a remote suburb of Paris. He was taken to the hospital and the bullet which had lodged in a bone near the right eye, was extracted. His life was found to be in no danger. M. Salary said that his play had just been refused by the management of the Theater Francais after he had been given to understand that it would be accepted. Disheartened he resolved to end his life in the theater which caused his disappointment.

FRENCH LEGISLATURE.

By Associated Press.

Paris, March 29.—The senate and chamber of deputies each held three sittings today in order to complete the bill before the end of this month so as to avoid the necessity of additional provisional credits. The senate completed its work, including the adoption of an additional duty of 24 cents per 100 kilograms on crude petroleum but rejecting the clause passed by the chamber, asking the government to prepare a law creating a state monopoly of petroleum refining. The budget did not return to the chamber of deputies tonight in time for it to take action on the senate's amendments.

But Are Held Pending Further Investigation—Slawson Says Extra Session Is Necessary.

Special to the Gazette.

Pueblo, March 29.—Investigation as to the connection of Raleigh Davis and Rose Brewer with the Louisiana Cafe hold-up where Dr. J. H. Turner and C. E. Bishop were killed, was held in secrecy today, and nothing of note is known as to the result. Many of the people who were guests in the cafe at the time of the tragedy were taken to police headquarters where the two suspected men are held, but so far as known, none of them could positively identify the man. It is expected that other and more important witnesses will be taken to see the men today, but it is believed that none of them obtained sufficient description to identify them. Detective John Leyden of Denver, who assisted in making the arrest, is in Pueblo helping in the investigation. Davis and Brewer have not yet been told for what they are under arrest.

Representative W. C. Slawson was in Pueblo today and said that an extra session of the legislature positively had to be held in order to make the appropriations. He stated that the action of the committee in cutting out the World's fair appropriation of $150,000 had brought protests from all parts of the state, and that an effort would be made to remedy this.

PENNELL INQUEST WILL FOLLOW BURDICK INQUIRY

By Associated Press.

Buffalo, March 29.—Tomorrow morning Justice Murphy will reopen the inquest into the death of Edwin L. Burdick. Alexander J. Quinn and F. G. Halliday, respectively bartender and cashier of the Hotel Roland, New York, in whose presence it is alleged Arthur Pennell threatened to kill some one, arrived in the city tonight and will be the first witnesses called. The clerk in Wallbridge's hardware store, who sold Pennell a revolver on the morning after the discovery of the Burdick murder, may be called upon to tell what he knows about Pennell's strange actions on that morning.

After the Burdick inquest is closed the official inquiry into the death of Pennell will begin. District Attorney Coatsworth will be present during the examination of witnesses in the Pennell inquest but Judge Murphy will conduct the inquest.

Former District Attorney Thomas Penney will represent the Pennell family. Several attorneys representing accident insurance companies in which Pennell was insured will be present. It is known some of them are inclined to contest the payment of policies on Pennell's life.

Pennell carried $25,000 in accident insurance, none of which has been paid. Besides that his life was insured for $215,000. The policies with one exception were taken out four or five years ago. The suicide clause gives one year from the date of issue as the term during which the insurance, if death was by suicide, would not be payable. Of the $185,000 insurance which is incontestible, four policies amounting to $20,000 have been paid.

CHOLERA QUARANTINE.

Matamoras, Mexico, March 29.—Five patients were discharged today from the lazaretto, so there are only eight left, whose condition is quite satisfactory. It has been observed that these people are not suffering of the plague, but from the consequences of the disease.

News that reached from Reynosa is not alarming.

At Vera Cruz 343 persons have been vaccinated with the Yersin serum, and not a case has occurred for the past 11 days.

KANSAS WOMEN SMASHED THINGS AT TWO JOINTS

By Associated Press.

Winfield, Kan., March 29.—The two daughters of John Osborne of this city, armed with pistols and hatchets, while in search of their brother, Edward Osborne, smashed down doors and destroyed other property at two joints. They first visited Art Schmidt's place on North Main street and being refused admittance, battered down the front door. The bartender attempted to draw his revolver, when the sisters promptly covered him with their pistols and he dropped behind the counter. Before leaving the place they smashed a number of bottles and glasses.

At Chad Thomas' place near-by they smashed a large front window when refused admittance. They were not arrested.

PRESIDENT'S FAMILY WILL TAKE A SOUTHERN CRUISE

By Associated Press.

Washington, March 29.—Mrs. Roosevelt and her children will take their projected cruise on the president's yacht, the Mayflower, during the coming week. They bade good bye tonight to the president, who leaves on his western trip Wednesday morning and they then boarded the Mayflower which has been lying at the navy yard for some days. The boat has been entirely remodeled recently and is in fine condition. Mrs. Roosevelt expects to be absent about a week. If the weather is good the vessel will go out into the open sea, the first stop being made at Port Royal, S. C. If the weather conditions prove unfavorable, the Mayflower will cruise in Chesapeake bay. The start will be made from the navy yard.

YALE STUDENT COMMITTED SUICIDE IN NEW YORK CITY

By Associated Press.

New York, March 29.—Herman Bowman Esher, 23 years old, of Chicago, said to be a student at Yale university, shot himself through the head today in his room at the Hotel Manhattan. Letters in Esher's room indicate that he had been greatly worried, presumably over business matters, but the letters give little clew as to the cause of his trouble. On a table in the room was found a pencilled note which said:

"Please notify my parents, E. H. Esher, 234 Winchester avenue, Chicago, also notify R. M. Fairbanks, 22 College street, New Haven. Better hold letter until he comes."

A letter written on the letter head of the Marine National bank of Buffalo, and signed "S. M. Clement, president," was also found. This letter, addressed to Bowman Esher, was written under date of March 23, and read:

"Dear Sir:—I inclose telegram just received from Lowell, the contents of which I have just wired you. I very much regret his decision. It may be you can bring some influence to bear upon him tomorrow to change him, and if in his letter which will probably follow the telegram, I find anything that will be of any use to you I will wire you tomorrow."

Mr. Fairbanks has wired that he will be here tomorrow and the letter written to him may throw some light on the suicide.

Coroner Jackson later opened the letter addressed to Fairbanks. It was of purely a personal nature, the coroner said, and in it the writer intimated that he had not long to live. He had been told, he said, he was afflicted with a severe type of tuberculosis.

By Associated Press.

New Haven, Conn., March 29.—Bowman Esher was a member of the class of 1905 at Yale university, and was one of the most popular men in the university. He has been a member of the Yale Daily News editorial board, and a prominent candidate for the chairmanship of the board of editors next term. He was the orator of his class.

RIOTING IN RUSSIA.

By Associated Press.

St. Petersburg, March 29.—The Official Gazette of Tiflis announces that rioting took place recently at Batoum and Baku, the center of the petroleum industry in Russia, and was suppressed by the troops. During the riots the vice governor of Baku was slightly injured. Many persons were arrested and sentenced to various terms of imprisonment. The Official Gazette gives only meager details of the disturbances, leaving it to be surmised that they were more serious than would appear from the official account.

CUNARD COMPANY PROFITS.

London, March 29.—The annual report of the Cunard Steamship company shows a profit of $1,115,085. A dividend of 4 per cent is declared.

LOWELL TEXTILE MILLS MAY HAVE PROLONGED SHUT-DOWN

By Associated Press.

Lowell, Mass., March 29.—With a long mill holiday ahead, today was a busy one for union labor interests. Labor men declare that the shut-down has done more to strengthen the union cause than any other incident. Yesterday and today hundreds of new members were admitted to the unions.

After the textile council meeting, President Conroy stated that plans were perfected for a long siege, indicating that he believed the shut-down would not be one of a few weeks.

The use of labor halls has been given without cost to the textile council, and these places will be fitted up as reading rooms. Fourteen meetings are called for tomorrow, and speakers from out of town are expected at several of them.

WIND AND RAIN STORM ON SOUTH ATLANTIC COAST

By Associated Press.

Newborn, N. C., March 29.—A severe wind and rain storm struck this city last night and has been raging all day. The Neuse and Trent river has today presented rivers almost equal to the Atlantic on a rough day being white from shore to shore. In some portions of the city streets are impassable and on Union Point people have to be taken from their homes in boats, the tide covering the first floor of their houses. Grave apprehension is felt for the fishermen who left the city early yesterday. It is thought they were struck by the gale when they were miles from land. All prospects for successful and early truck season are doomed.

Much damage was done to small craft around the city.

By Associated Press.

Savannah, Ga., March 29.—A northeaster storm of considerable severity prevailed all day, causing much damage to wires, trees and fencing. Low lands on the island were flooded. No shipping left the harbor during the day.

ADVANCE OF WAGES.

Johnstown, Pa., March 29.—The Berwind-White company of Windber, employing 4,000 miners, has posted a notice of an advance of wages to machine miners of 12 per cent.

THE QUESTION FOR THE VOTERS.

IN THE campaign which is now on in this city, the question before the citizens is a simple one. It is this: Whether or not they are to be content to remain under the rule and the domination of the small clique of politicians who have controlled the affairs of this city for many years past, or whether they are ready to make a change, to turn over a new leaf and put other men and other methods into practice.

No man who is acquainted with the facts and who is candid will say that this city has been run as it ought to have been in the past. No man will say that it has been run honestly, in a businesslike manner, and in the interests of the taxpayers.

It has rather been run by a very small clique of men; men who have subserved all other things to the single idea—how will this benefit us personally and enable us to revintain our grip upon the affairs of the city.

It is a fact which will not be denied by those who have a knowledge of the situation that the selection of men, the purchase of goods, the expenditure of money in all directions, has been discussed first from the standpoint of party politics; second, if at all, upon the basis of the welfare of the city.

So intrenched has been the Republican party in power that it has become bold and openly indifferent to the welfare of the people in general. It makes and unmakes candidates; it tells its officeholders what to do and how to do it. And these men, if they desire to continue in office, do what they are told by their makers and their masters. The history of the municipal government in Colorado Springs for many years past has been blotted by dishonesty and corruption, and yet so great is the power of the machine which controls the city that except for an occasional rebuff it is able to continue in power.

To meet such a dominant party organization it is necessary that there should be a united, vigorous opposition. To that duty the Democratic party, as the other of the great national parties, is charged. Its ticket is composed of highly respected, responsible citizens—men in whom the voters can have the utmost respect and confidence. These men, if elected, may be relied upon to do their whole duty without fear or favor. They will work in the interest of the people rather than in the interest of a ring. They have not been nominated by any corporation, clique, faction or boss, and hence they will owe allegiance to but one body, and that is the people themselves.

The Gazette believes that there is at this election a chance to administer a rebuke to those who make a chattel of the property of the taxpayers.

The Republican ticket contains the names of many of those who are connected with the present machine, and that party desires once more to place them in control of the people's property. If elected they will consider that they have been indorsed, and their actions for the next two years will be even more abominable and notorious than they have been in the last two years.

It is certainly time that the thinking citizens of this city should stop and consider whether or not they wish to perpetuate the oligarchy in power which has been to us a shame and a disgrace ever since it has been in control of this municipality.

It is a time when all good citizens may unite, show their independence of party bosses and elect men whose only pledge is a pledge of faithful service and honest government.

LEGISLATIVE LOBBYISTS.

THE legislative lobbyist is everywhere, a pestiferous and intolerable nuisance which no legislative body should tolerate. The Colorado legislature some time since was obliged to remonstrate with one of these cheeky individuals for walking about the legislative halls while the assembly was in session, and without so much as deigning to remove his hat. He was thereupon excluded from the chamber.

Now the New York senate has been obliged to take similar action. Lobbyists were overrunning the building to any extent as to seriously interfere with business. Hence the senate decided to go into executive session, posting guards at all the entrances. Even approach to the chamber was refused. The senators were determined that the lobbyists should not know what they were looking atable for this.

In these days of tricks and combines and deals, there are many lobbyists as there are legislators, and no doubt a very little money spent judiciously in advance of the session by the representatives of the self-seeking politicians. A decided law which would effectually bar the lobby from state capitols is badly needed.

Admiral Dewey seems to have no luck in his dealings with the Congress. He asked and actually got from Congress a law to make him a rear admiral, and he was as happy as anything over it. While the law was probably the most he was very unwilling to let the matter out of the hands.

The Democratic ticket is a winner. It is in the fight to stay. Voters are invited to study it. Don't mind what the other side says, but vote for the health, and against the misrule of selfish men who are at the head of city affairs.

DON'T BE MISLED.

THE members of good government in Colorado Springs are so alarmed over the strength which the Democratic ticket possesses that they are publishing broadcast a new falsehood with every hour.

Their chief delight is in knowingly, wilfully and with malice aforethought publishing the false statement that the Democrats are to withdraw certain candidates.

The Republican bosses would be only too glad to have these men withdraw. They see the handwriting on the wall. A part if not all of them realize that their day is done; that they have been tried and found wanting. They will never again hold office in Colorado Springs.

It is a knowledge of this fact that causes these numerous and unfounded statements concerning Democratic withdrawals.

The ticket printed at the head of this column is in the fight to stay. Voters are invited to study it carefully.

There never has been put up a ticket of more representative citizens and taxpayers. It is a ticket that any man or woman can conscientiously and honorably vote for from the first name to the last.

A FEW HOROSCOPES.

(By our Special Staff Seer. Published on Mondays and Wednesdays only.)

UDGE I—A H—R—S: Your reading shows you to be a man of good principles, but likely to be sadly misled by wicked and designing persons. A short, keen, dark man is likely to cross your path early in April. Beware of him!

J—n Y—r—s: I should judge that you would be a good politician; smooth and easy. Don't ever try your hand at bookkeeping; you have no head for figures, especially interest figures. You had better keep out of lawsuits. Juries are very cold-blooded in the matter of damaged reputations.

F. S.—Your horoscope shows that you will be at leisure after April 7.

E—d G. C—r—y: This reading shows you to be a man of great political activity, and that you know how to look out for Number One. At the same time, I see a remarkable streak of forgetfulness, especially on money matters. You are likely to have as much as $1,000 in the bank at one time and forget that you have it. You are very partial to memorandums, and take naturally to water—rents. You have a wicked brother—he'll bear watching.

Cincinnati has a political situation a good deal like that in Colorado Springs. The people of that city, without regard to party, are doing their best to overthrow the Republican machine which has so long and so corruptly ruled that city. The indications are that the anti-machine ticket, like that in Colorado Springs, will be successful.

Cuba has ratified the treaty of reciprocity with the United States. It's the best thing that Cuba has done for herself for many a day.

We haven't found anyone yet, either Republican or Democrat, who isn't going to vote for W. H. Hoagland for treasurer.

A certain G. O. P. machine will be sadly in need of repair after the 7th of April.

DISREPUTABLE AND POWERFUL.

It is a remarkable fact that of all the constitutional monarchs in Europe the most disreputable has the most power. We refer, of course, to King Leopold II. of Belgium, whose escapades have been for many years of a kind in comparison with which those of Louis XV. were conducted with discretion and enveloped in mystery. Strange to say, although, from one point of view, his life has been one which would debar him from any respectable middle-class household in England or the United States, the masses of his subjects could not if they were Moslems regard his sexual divagations with more indulgence. The recent attempt to assassinate him undoubtedly added to his popularity, and probably has prolonged the life of his dynasty. It is no longer true of Leopold II. that he reigns but does not govern. The Belgian sovereigns were figureheads years ago, when the old-fashioned Liberals were in power, under the leadership of M. Frere-Orban, but since the Conservatives, who are almost exclusively Catholics, have had to formidable rivals except the Socialists, the king's personal influence has become a political factor of the first magnitude. He is even more powerful today in Belgium than George III. was in England during the first twenty-four years of his reign. Not content with his exercise of indirect and surreptitious pressure through the responsible ministers, he has of late not hesitated to place himself in direct and open relation with the people and the people's representatives in the lower house of the Belgian parliament. In an address on New Year's day to the presiding officer of the Brussels chamber of deputies, he even propounded the principle that it was the sovereign's duty when, in his judgment, the country's interests should demand it, to take the initiative in matters concerning which the parliament could be consulted later. Nor was this a merely academic declaration intended to sound public sentiment. He has actually carried out the principle, having just announced his intention to develop the coal mines, recently discovered in Belgium, at the expense of the state, without waiting for any authorization on the part of the national legislature.—(Harper's Weekly.

WORTH VERSUS INCOME.

These Englishmen who imagine and assert that in the United States the dollar is almighty, overlook the profound respect, amounting at times almost to reverence, with which Americans regard men, like Ralph Waldo Emerson, who believe in plain living and high thinking. Emerson has had many disciples in public as well as in private life, and the position which they occupy in the esteem and confidence of their fellow-citizens is one unapproached by any of our multimillionaires. A few years ago the annual income of one member of the federal senate was reputed to exceed $16,000,000 from one source alone. So far as we know, that gentleman's voice has never been heard but twice in the senate chamber, and were he to speak oftener he would be listened to with more surprise than respect. On the other hand, there is no senator who deserves and commands so much attention when he rises to discuss a public question as does the Hon. George F. Hoar, of Massachusetts; indeed, we do not hesitate to say that, since the death of Daniel Webster, there has never been a senator whose utterances bear so well the searching test of type. Yet this man, who for a quarter of a century has worthily represented the commonwealth of Massachusetts in the upper house of the federal legislature, has never known what it is to possess so modest an income even as two thousand dollars a year, outside of his salary. Up to a twelvemonth ago, he had been unable to rent even a humble dwelling, but had lived in boarding-houses, some tolerable, some intolerable, during the whole of his useful and honorable career in Washington. Has the fact impaired his social dignity or his political weight? We reply, not an iota. That is a truth well known to men who have lived in the federal capital, and it is a truth as creditable to the American people as it is to Senator Hoar himself.—(Harper's Weekly.

COSTLY EUCHRE PRIZES.

The Brooklyn women who find an outlet for their speculating instinct in professionally conducted euchers deserve rather to be encouraged by their husbands, so long as the prizes are of such substantial nature as pieces of furniture. The gambling propensity, the indulgence of which is now a mania in the country, has a peculiar strength in the mysterious and furtive mental processes of womankind. The vogue of the "ladies' bookmaker" at the race tracks, the autocrats in Saratoga and the "clubs" at Palm Beach and Aiken, the not infrequent fashionable figure which, [illegible] up to in sand, has an eager eye for the fateful tape and is always slipping into a telephone booth to talk with a broker, and the patronage by women of policy shops on every corner in the principal sections of many cities, show that [illegible] monopoly gaming. When the Brooklyn [illegible] the new 50-cent clock which his wife [illegible] afternoon at the euchre at a dollar an afternoon, he may congratulate himself that his lot is kinder than that of his friend whose fashionable friend who is taking his [illegible] out because his wife lately came [illegible] money for the [illegible] Pueblo [illegible].

COLORADO COMMENT

Steel Works.

J. C. Osgood says to look out for great things in regard to the steel works, and J. C. Osgood knows.—(Bessemer Bulletin.

Colorado Springs.

The chamber of commerce of Colorado Springs will open branches at Salt Lake and Los Angeles for the purpose of distributing reading matter descriptive of the material and scenic attractions of El Paso and Teller counties, and generally booming the Pike's Peak region.—(Telluride Journal.

A Slow Grind.

The legislative grind is slow, but the fewer laws enacted the better it will be for the people generally.—(Durango Herald.

A Hold-Up Scheme.

It is unfortunate for Colorado that the house had the good sense to kill Belford's proposed constitutional amendment. The amendment provided for conferring power on the legislature to fix the price smelters should pay for reducing ores and is a hold-up proposition, pure and simple.—(Ft. Collins Courier.

Peabody's Administration.

Protection to life, property and the constitutional equal rights of every citizen is a fundamental principle of Governor Peabody's administration, and though there may be some who will deny him the honor and credit his due and vilify his noble course, future generations and history will do justice to him, and make proud his progeny and the people of his state.—(Telluride Journal.

Cheerful Outlook.

With copper soaring, and lead quoted in New York at $4.67, there is a most cheerful outlook for the miners of all this region. It is not likely, in view of the New York quotations, that lead can long be kept here below $4. And with lead at $4, and copper restored to the old price, these by-products will be a source of great profit.—(Telluride Journal.

Our Future Hopes.

The state of Colorado greets the new year with high hopes and clear confidence, based not only on what is already under way, but on the great things that have been projected and are sure to be realized. On every side the observing citizen sees evidences of broadening human endeavor. He sees development in industrial enterprises far beyond the wildest hopes to which he indulged 10 years ago. He finds local capital not only more competent than ever before to grapple with great undertakings, but more inclined toward local investment with the most substantial of all reasons, security and profit, to justify what has already been done and to encourage wider and larger incursions in similar fields in the future.—(Rocky Mountain Herald.

Slaughter.

The state legislature is doing quite an extensive business in slaughtering bills. It is the same old story. The senate will but the house won't and the house will but the senate won't.—(Holyoke Herald.

A VEIN OF HUMOR

Deferred.

Gray hairs show at my temples,
Yes, I shall settle down.
Farewell, beloved Influenza
No more painting the town!
Girls who have loved and left me,
Girls whom I've loved and left,
Truly, my heart's not broken;
Tell me, are you bereft?

Tess had a smile bewitching,
Polly was passing fair;
Rose had a shapely ankle;
Nell had glorious hair;
Greta, blue-eyed and tender,
Loved me in student days;
We met, we kissed and we quarreled,
We've gone our several ways.

So, Cupid, an end to trifling
I've burned their ribbons and gloves,
Letters, tresses and trinkets—
Relics of bygone loves.
No more with transient sweethearts
Shall I pursue delight;
Stay! there is one exception
That sweet girl I met last night!

A Wait-y Proposal.

"Well," said Farmer Briggs to the artist, "how much will ye paint my farm with me standin' at the door for?"

"Oh, five guineas," said the artist.

"Done," said the farmer. "Come tomorrow."

In due course the painting was finished. But, alas! the careless artist had forgot to paint in the worthy farmer on the picture of his farm.

"Yes," I like it," said the farmer, "but where's me, lad, where's me?"

The error he had made flashed across the artist, but he tried to bluff it off with a joke.

"Oh," he said, "you've gone inside to get my five guineas."

"Oh, have I?" said the settled old chap. "I'll pay I'll be runnin' out soon and if I do, I'll pay you! In the meantime we'll hang it up and wait."—(Exchange.

Dutiful Child.

Father—Isn't this your sister's birthday?

Little Bessie—Yeth, thir; but you mustn't ath her how old the lil cauthe I promithed not to tell.—(April Smart Set.

Once Was Sufficient.

Mrs. Norwood—May I help you to a piece of the mince pie, Mr. Clifton?

Mr. Clifton—No, thank you. I ate a piece last night before retiring, and I dreamed that I was living in Cleveland.—(Florin Journal.

It Was So Funny.

"Isn't it funny," gurgled the cheerful idiot, "that one has to raise one's voice in order to call down collar?"

"Not any funnier," cackled the Brain Fever Jumbine, "than the fact that the most essential part of a fellow's bringing-up bear occasional calling-down."—(Baltimore American.

Another Tender Heart.

Clara—Going in for charity again, are you? What is it this time?

Dora—We are going to distribute cheap copies of Beethoven's symphonies among the poor. Music is such an aid to digestion, you know!—(New York Weekly.

TO GAZE ON WINTER SCENES AND LIVE A VEAR IN ONE NIGHT IN STRANGE LANDS

Three gays left the Antlers hotel yesterday for search for adventures around the world. They are willing, if necessary, to expend more than a fortune to obtain the objects of their trip. They are Henry Willson of Chicago, who has the world spend the rest of his life in traveling.

Mr. Willson will be accompanied by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frederick J. [illegible] of New York and her daughter, [illegible] Willson. The three have arranged an itinerary for one of the most interesting and original tours of the world ever planned. They will go to little-known places of the Philippines and then will cross India and endeavor to see the Grand Llama's forbidden land crossing the Himalaya mountains. They intend seeing South Africa and with a strong escort will obtain a glimpse of savage life. Six months will be spent on horseback in the Andes mountains on the Pacific coast in South America. In no case, except in the Hawaiian islands and Japan will the beaten track of travel be followed.

Do It Prior to Friends.

This will come as a surprise to the friends of Mrs. and Miss Willson in Colorado Springs. The ladies have been at the Antlers for a month and have done much riding and mountain climbing. Miss Willson is given to athletics and during the time she was awaiting the arrival of her uncle, who was detained in Chicago, has been much in the open. She is a good rider and her graceful figure on horseback has been often observed. She is a golf enthusiast and has a somewhat rare accomplishment to her credit: She is an excellent shot. Her mother is very wealthy; her uncle is devoted to her and it is mainly due to a whim of Miss Hilda that the unusual journey is planned.

"I have always desired to travel, to see the world as it should be seen," said Mr. Willson. "My library is devoted in great part to books of travel. When a very young man I was presented with a copy of Father Ripa's eighteenth century travels in China and that came near to be my undoing. If my ancestors have ever been seafarers, or soldiers in the far past, I have received an inheritance of the wandering germ from them. Business has heretofore prevented me from indulging in this ambition but my affairs are now in such shape that I intend to spend the remainder of my life in traveling.

"My niece is much of the same mind. I want her to see every part of the world that a woman can visit without too great a risk. We have decided to follow the adage, 'In Rome do as Romans do.' In India, for instance, we shall eschew a railroad in preference to elephants. Hilda has read everything she could get on the Himalayas; Sven Hedin, the explorer, is something of a hero to her and the land of the Grand Llama, the mysterious, the forbidden, is to be visited by us if we can work it. You may remember Hedin was turned back. Twice he has attempted to penetrate to the sacred city, but by some unexplicable manner the Llama has been notified of the expeditions and has turned them back. It may be that the Llama knew the explorer would publish to the world the results of his visit and took this inhospitable way of informing him that he would not stand such inquisitiveness and may permit us as inoffensive American tourists to visit in his country.

"I do not want to be understood as saying we will run any foolish risks. But in my life I have discovered that the will usually makes the way easy and I will be protected by the passports and letters given me at Washington.

"We Sail—We Go."

"From San Francisco we sail for Honolulu. From Hawaii we go to the Philippines, then to Japan, then to Hong-Kong and Asia. After Europe we go to South America."

Looking Forward.

Mr. Willson is an elderly gentleman who has built up a fortune in business in New York and Chicago. He says that the next 10 or 15 years will see him a leisurely globe trotter.

Miss Willson denies the charge of one of her friends that she will write a book of the experiences and adventures the party expects to encounter. "Not a bit of that—but I shall keep a diary," she admitted. Her friends are doubtful if her enthusiasm will last throughout the two years. They base this on the fact that Miss Willson is very handsome, of the pronounced brunette type, and although athletic, she is very dainty and, if the truth must be told, enjoys marshmallows and the latest novels.

[illegible] Contracts Awarded for Grading Many Miles of Railway

Clough & Anderson of this city have been awarded the contract for grading of eight and one-half miles of track of the new Moffat road. The local firm, in bidding for this contract, entered into competition with a number of big firms of the state, among whom were [illegible] Cook of Pueblo, and Bradbury of Denver. The amount of the contract is between $300,000 and $400,000 and calls for the grading of about eight and one-half miles out of Denver up to the point where the firm of Orman & Cook's territory begins.

The road is now using the Colorado & Southern tracks to Arvada. It is for the track covering this ground that the local firm will do the grading. The line will run parallel with the telegraph line now in use. Work will be started at once, and it is expected that by Thursday there will be 120 teams at work. This number will be gradually increased to 200. About 200 men will be employed. Clough & Anderson did part of the construction work on the Short Line.

Miss [illegible] Not Wed in New York [illegible]

Waltz tunes were in demand at the Alamo hotel last night until a party of guests who had heard of the romance of the [illegible] pianist, Louis Mansfield, asked Professor Dietrich to play the overture to "Cavalleria Rusticana."

"Oh, that is not sacred music, no," said Professor Dietrich, smilingly. "But it is the air of my friend, Louis Mansfield, and he was in love. It would make us to be sad so much—poor Louis!"

Nevertheless the orchestra played it and responded to an encore. It was plain to see that Dietrich acknowledged that the "sad, sweet strains" relieved the anxiety of the members of the orchestra have felt as to the outcome of the romance taking the pianist to New York.

The story of Mansfield and his journey to woo the heiress he has been courting for the last four years, has been told by each member of the orchestra in inquiries. Telegrams which have reached Mansfield's friend in New York have so far remained unanswered. Mansfield stated to his friends that he would immediately call upon Philip Hoffman, the millionaire father, at his residence on Fifty-fifth street, New York. Although he did not know the contents of the letter received by his faithful friend, who has been very rosy in the violent courtship pursued since the Hoffmans' return to New York, the speculators have decided that since Miss Hoffman has been receiving the rare blossoms so lavishly showered upon her, more than hope has been expressed in the missive.

They reason also that the St. Louis friend of the pianist, who caused the discord by unexpectedly appearing at the hotel the other evening and winking at Mansfield when the pianist was playing the serenade music from the opera of that name, had something encouraging to impart. The brother musicians have taken the liveliest interest in this case of true love, which has indeed been turbulent enough to satisfy the proverb.

Should nothing be heard today, another telegram will be sent, but Professor Dietrich inclines to the belief that the lover will not sacrifice caution in demanding too immediate an interview with the father.

[illegible] Weather Matters Discussed

Geometry and the weather were the principal topics discussed at the meeting of the Colorado Springs Scientific society Friday afternoon. Prof. Myers delivered the lecture on geometry, which was well illustrated by diagrams, making it doubly interesting.

The paper on "The February Weather," read by H. L. McClintock, was well prepared and contained much that was very interesting. The entire faculty of the college and the High school were present and quite a number of the general public responded to the invitations sent out.

The greater part of the lecture of Prof. Myers was contained in the diagrams. The paper of Mr. McClintock covered the details of the weather of last February in comparison with the weather of the same month for several years past and reached the conclusion that last February was the "most disagreeable."

He showed the lowest temperature of last month to have been 12.5 degrees, while the lowest before recorded for the same month was in 1871 when it went only to 17 degrees. The maximum temperature reached during the month was 60 degrees. The frequent storms, however, was the feature of the month, aside from its low temperature. There were three snow storms, followed by cold snaps.

Another feature of the month was the prevailing high barometer, there being a low mark only twice during the month.

[illegible] Refrigerating Company Will Ship Melons

The National Refrigerator company of this city is figuring on putting in a plant at Las Animas for the manufacture of ice to supply that city and section during the season. Ice has to be brought into the valley by carloads during the summer to furnish refrigeration for the cantaloupes and watermelons that are shipped, as well as for nearly all commercial purposes. It is, therefore, expensive and a great saving can be made to the consumers by having an ice plant right where the demand is.

It is expected that the company will have the plant ready for operation before the season for shipping cantaloupes, watermelons and fruit opens.

The Refrigerator company is erecting plants throughout the entire west, especially in California. A large establishment is being built in Salt Lake City and a number of smaller ones in other localities. E. M. DeLaVergne, E. J. Ullrich, E. H. Stark and others of this city are the principal owners in the company.

[illegible] Campaign Begins Next Week

Preparations for a regular campaign are being made by the supporters of the incorporation plans at Fountain, the first gun to be fired about April 1.

It is the plan to have several mass meetings so the question may be thoroughly discussed. Those who are urging the plan of incorporation declare that the benefits sought lie very largely in the necessity for some sort of police protection. In speaking to a representative of the Gazette, one of the leading men declared that at present the town was a prey to all sorts of petty offenders against whom they had no protection unless they called into play the forces of the county which were often out of reach. They also state that at present there is no street plan or street grade, that there is no order in the building of houses, most of which are put up without reference to a building line.

The small increase in the tax rate they claim will not be sufficient to offset these advantages and they are urging their side of the question with considerable vigor. The opposition has not been doing much work lately, but it promises to be heard from when the campaign starts.

[illegible] Discovered in Dump

The carelessness of a medical student resulted in all sorts of murder theories being sprung on the public yesterday. Bert Dowell, an employe of Davis & Mueth, discovered the remnants of a human hand on a dump in the neighborhood of Klowa street and the Rio Grande tracks as he was going home from work. He became wrought up over his find and visions of a bloody murder haunted him. He took the hand to the county physician, H. L. Richardson, who later reported the matter to officer Clyde Hall. When the officer had investigated the matter, however, he declared the find to have been nothing but the remains of a medical student's dissecting room. The hand was doubtless thrown in the refuse at the student's home and later carried to the dump.

Other occurrences of this sort are known to the police who state that it is no uncommon thing to find human remains on the city dumps.

[illegible] Y. M. C. A. Building Today

Today occurs the formal opening of the Young Men's Christian association building. At 6 o'clock this evening the opening banquet to the officers of the various business organizations of the city will be held in the congress hall of the building. At this banquet will be present the officers of the mining exchange, of the Business Men's association, of the Real Estate exchange, of the chamber of commerce and of the association. Men only will be present. President Slocum of Colorado college will preside at this banquet and will call upon the presidents of the different organizations named above to make speeches. President Warren Woods of the Y. M. C. A. will make a short address and remarks will be made by President E. A. Colburn of the board of directors and ex-Secretary T. P. Day. During the banquet the Y. M. C. A. orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Spangenberg, will furnish music.

At 8 o'clock occurs the general business men's reception. To this all business men of the city and their wives are invited. D. E. Scribner will act as chairman of the reception committee, to be composed of 20 members of the association. The members of this committee will be stationed all over the building to direct guests. The guests will be received in the general reception hall and the parlors of the building.

At 8:30 in the auditorium of the building W. E. Sweet, secretary of the Denver Y. M. C. A., will deliver a short address to the guests on "The Y. M. C. A. from a Business Man's standpoint." C. C. S. Ward of Chicago, field secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., will also speak, choosing as his subject, "What the Business Men Are Doing for the Y. M. C. A. and What the Y. M. C. A. Is Doing for the Business Men." Dr. Slocum will also preside at this meeting. Following the exercises in the auditorium, there will be given a short program of gymnastics in the gymnasium.

During the week the members of the Young Woman's auxiliary of the association will sell souvenir badges to the visitors. The money derived from the sale of the souvenirs will be used to furnish the room the auxiliary has taken in the dormitory. Souvenir programs will be distributed free during the week.

[illegible] Persona Mention

The lights were turned out at the meeting place of the Burning Bush evangelists on Weber and Kiowa streets last night and the services were conducted in almost total darkness.

Two candles and a small lantern furnished all the light in the room and the evangelists used the situation to point out the horrors of the nether world.

They have not yet been able to learn the identity of those guilty of the act but suspicion attaches to a number of boys who have been attending the meetings lately. The electric light wires leading to the building were completely severed.

POLICE ANNOYED BY FALSE ALARMS FOR PATROL WAGON

The police department has been annoyed considerably lately by calls for the patrol wagon on the part of practical jokers. Several times within the last month the patrol wagon has been called to various points in the city by someone who has run away as soon as the call was sent in and when the driver arrived at the place from which the call was sent there was no one to be seen.

Last night a call was turned in from the street car barns and in response to the question of the night captain relative to who had been arrested the voice at the end of the telephone had replied that he had "two drunks." When the wagon arrived however, there was no one around who knew anything of the call having been sent in nor were there any drunks in the neighborhood.

The police department declare that they are uncertain on every call sent in and they declare that they will have to stop sending the wagon at all unless the false calls are stopped.

Many Actors and Singers use Piso's Cure to strengthen the voice and prevent hoarseness.

MINING DEPARTMENT

This company is capitalized for [illegible] 000 shares, par value 1 each, and [illegible] are 114[illegible] shares in the treasury [illegible] about 40c in cash. The company owns about 1,000. It owns 15,400 shares of stock of the Mariposa Mining and Tunnel company. The holdings of the company consist of the Red Bird claim, 10.33 acres on Gold hill; Venus, 3 acres, an interest in the Sacramento, one acre near the Elkton and leases on a large acreage of outside territory which have about 11 years to run. The properties are all patented except the leased ground.

The property is equipped with a full plant of machinery and a commodious shaft house, the total cost being in the neighborhood of $10,000. No work has been done for over a year but it is stated that there is a deal in progress looking toward the resumption of active operations. A production of something like $25,000 has been made from the Red Bird and the shaft is down over 450 feet, with about 1,000 feet of lateral work.

The officers are William A. Otis, president; H. L. West, vice president, and William P. Sargent, secretary and treasurer.

State Mining News

SAGUACHE.

Articles of incorporation of the Crown Point Mining and Leasing company, a corporation formed under the laws of Colorado with a capital of $50,000, to operate in Saguache county, were filed in the office of the county clerk and recorder last Monday.

The directors are all well-known Cripple Creek mining men, F. M. Symes, superintendent of the Gold Coin mine; D. J. Carlin, superintendent of the Economic mill; T. C. Brown, metallurgist of the Economic mill; Francis Eakins and John G. Huntington, mining engineers, and F. M. Woods of the Woods Investment Co., composing the directorate for the first year.

They have a three-years' lease on the south 750 feet of the Crown Point, Klondike and Homestake lodes belonging to the Central Colorado Gold Mining Co. in the Klondike or Finley gulch district, nine miles north of Saguache, and have already commenced operations.

The old Daisy Dean shaft has been unwatered and will at once be enlarged to 8x4 in the clear and retimbered, a contract to be let this week for 20,000 feet of sawn timbers for the shaft.

At the 200-foot level a crosscut will be run to the Klondike shaft which was sunk in the quartzite following in the funnel of the geyser and being too crooked for a working shaft. The Dean shaft is in soft porphyry and can be sunk at much less expense.

Later a gasoline hoist is to be installed and the work pushed vigorously. After opening up the ore body thoroughly the company will put up a mill if conditions demand it, but nothing will be done in this line until a considerable body of milling ore is blocked out. A carload of very rich tellurium float was at one time picked up off this ground and shipped to the smelters at a good profit, and it is likely that a body of smelting ore will also be uncovered in the property.

There is undoubtedly a big mine in this locality, and if it can be developed it will mean a great deal for Saguache and the surrounding country.

OURAY.

The outlook for mining prosperity in Ouray county was never brighter for the coming season at this time of the year in its history. The old standard properties, such as the Camp Bird, Bachelor and Revenue, will continue to output their usual and even increased shipments of gold and silver products, while a larger number than ever of smaller mines will be developed.

The purchase of the old Fowler smelter by the Ouray Chief Mining company will be a great stimulus to working low grade properties. Mr. David Wood will arrange the smelter to work up the products of the Ouray Chief and in addition will treat the products of other mines. The workings of this smelter will be a great addition to the prosperity of the camp. It has lain idle for five years but now will increase the outbound shipments to a large degree.

The Sneffels district will output double the amount of rich ores over that of any preceding year. The Governor expects to strike a vein of high-grade gold and silver within the next 30 days. The Pilot, which is being worked by Geo. T. Bradley for eastern parties, will be in the list of shippers. The Ruby Trust, which has been idle during the past six weeks, will start up again in the spring. Among the most important mines in this district are the San Pedro and Camp Bird-Revenue properties, which lie between the Camp Bird and the Revenue. Mr. F. J. Hubenigl, the local manager, will place a large force at work to develop the rich veins known to exist in these localities and will bring out a special car of New York and Chicago capitalists who are interested in the properties, to look the field over and place large improvements at work. They will also place a large force at work on the Bonanza, which already has a large amount of ore in the mine ready for shipment or treatment at the local smelters. It is expected that 200 miners will find work on these propositions.

The Angel Mining company is another enterprise which will undoubtedly develop into a very important factor in the output line. The company is composed of Colorado capitalists and will work the group extensively this season. The group consists of several claims and a mill site about two miles south of the city on the Sneffels road, and from former developments the outlook for good pay workings is exceedingly encouraging.

Mr. F. M. Jackson will work the Ouray Gold Mining company properties with a good force. The properties are owned by Colorado capitalists with himself as the largest stockholder.

The Imogene Gold Basin Mining company will work its group, which lies adjacent to the Camp Bird, with a good force. Mr. L. B. Jackson, the president, is expected to arrive from Chicago soon.

The new electric power house of the Revenue will increase the output of this old-time heavy property to a large extent.

A. G. Bruner expects to complete his contract on the Bonanza King by April 5. There is lots of ore ready for shipment and the outlook is very good. Sinking and drifting will be started at once. This property is incorporated and owned principally by E. W. McIntyre, one of the oldest timers of Ouray county, but now located at Flint, Michigan.

W. Carman Layton and O. C. Tate, prominent capitalists of Des Moines, Iowa, arrived in the city Saturday and departed for their home Monday, after looking over the mining field, here with a view of making some investments. They visited Mineral Point while here and will return to the city in a month or so.—(Plaindealer.

CRIPPLE CREEK.

Somewhere away back in the 80's, when this country was prospected over for silver, some party unknown to the oldest residents in this part of the country did some work in a deep and rugged canon about six miles northwest of Turret. In [illegible] a man by the name of Barnes told [illegible] William Bassham, who now resides in Turret, of those old workings, but would not give the location of them. He [illegible] knew that the working was good and a large quantity of ore [illegible] on the dump. In [illegible] parties from Turret [illegible] had been hunting for [illegible] property but [illegible] was unable to locate it.

Thinking the matter over, and bearing in mind the season when they began operations [illegible] with the country having [illegible] certainly restricted results expected, but in the valley for the past 24 years, Mr. Bassham, in company with C. C. Huntley, concluded to try and find the property in question. Fitting themselves out with a camping outfit, they went in search of the lost mine. After a two days' search, in going up a deep, precipitous canon about six miles northwest from Turret and about one-fourth mile east of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad track, they came to an old dump. There was plenty of evidence to show that this work had been done years before, as the timbering at the surface of the shaft had rotted down, and the cabin where the parties who had done the work lived had gone to decay.

Lying around and piled on the dump were what they estimated to be about 100 tons of a good looking ore, with some sulphides mixed through it and looking similar to the ore around Turret.

The parties were able to get down into the old workings for a distance of about 35 feet, where they found caving had taken place, filling the shaft up below this point. At this point they were able to measure the width of the vein, which they found to be seven feet between walls, one of which is porphyry and the other schist. The vein has a northeast and southwest trend, the same as many veins at Turret, except the contact veins from north to south like the one on which the Independence is located.

The country rock is granite the same as Turret. To the south of this property they noticed two more veins having the same course and cropping on the surface same as where the shaft had been sunk. As to the value of this ore, that is yet to be determined, as no assays have been made. Yet a very low grade ore would be profitable, the property lying within a few hundred feet of the railroad, with a smelter a few miles away, and all a downhill pull from the mine.

Arrangements are being made as fast as possible to open up this property, which gives evidence of being a pay proposition from the start. Should this property prove to be a shipper, it is evident there is more of the same kind close by which only awaits development. Mr. Bassham is an old settler and can be relied on as giving a true statement of the facts as they are, and as the old workings are now secured, there is no occasion to keep the matter secret.

The Independence shaft is 150 feet deep, 53 feet having been made by E. B. Cobb and his associates since taking the 100-foot contract. The ore conditions are quite as favorable as last week. If there has been any change it has been in improvement.

The drifts in the 225-foot level of the Jasper have reached 15 to 20 feet each way. The ore holds out well. Nearly a carload of ore has been sacked up. Stoping has been commenced. A shipment will be made soon. A sample shipment recently made gave $40,000 smelter returns. The work of drifting continues and the force is also lining and finishing the shaft between 150-foot and 225-foot levels.

The Mascot and the Copper King were the properties which seemed to be of greatest interest to the parties who visited the camp last week. These properties are indeed among the best in the district. The Copper King has been known from the first year of the camp, and it has been regarded by miners and prospectors as one of the best showings in the district. While the workings may be regarded as only surface, yet there is much ore in sight that gives the best copper value. The Mascot is of a more recent location, but the development has been of a most favorable kind. The ore taken from the Mascot not only looks well but it gives good value by actual test.

There is another large party of townspeople and others going up to visit the Pay Car on Sunday.

C. M. Demarest is having some work done on a property near the Pay Car which shows good indications.

C. J. Anderson of the Holdredge company at Twin City, was in the city yesterday and brings favorable reports from his camp.

The Stockton, two miles below town, has just shipped a carload of ore to the Salida smelter. They are now in a body of fine ore and work continues.

R. N. Scott has discovered a 20-inch vein of copper three miles from town that is simply fine. Work will surely make a pay mine out of it.

A party from Emporia, Kansas, has been in the city the last few days looking for mining properties. It says Dr. Bancroft is in that city selling lots of stock on his property in Turret.

Mr. Miller is here from Chicago, where he has been connected with the stock board. He is enthusiastic over Salida and the future possibilities of our natural resources. He is talking of going into business here. He is likely to connect himself in some way with mining.

The Pay Car is now 190 feet in from the initial point, 165 feet under cover and 125 feet deep at the end of the tunnel. The ore changes very frequently and comes in strings. Although not far enough to expect to cut the main body, yet there is a body following the side of the tunnel that is heavily impregnated with pure native copper. Tellurium of copper is frequently encountered and copper pyrites are very common. The changes are all in favor of a big strike at the proper depth and distance, and the chances are great that the Pay Car will be one of the big mines of central Colorado. A car and track has been ordered and will soon be installed.

GUNNISON.

Millard Pennington and partner, of Gunnison, came in and went up to Irwin this week to begin work on a contract they have on the Hahn property situated on Roby peak. Quite an amount of development is planned for the summer here and a tunnel is to be driven cutting the ore bodies therein many hundred feet below the surface outcrop of the veins.

Word is received that George McCay may be expected in at an early date, when extensive operations will be started on the Washington Gulch properties. The scant water supply the past year, together with the intensea of the season when they began operations [illegible] certainly restricted results expected, but everything is now in readiness to begin washing as soon as the water comes and an abundant supply of which means that a large amount of dirt will be handled this season and big clean-ups are certain. The company owns a large acreage and contemplates more extended work on the Painter Boy and other lode mining claims belonging to them in that vicinity.

The "Big Four" mining property, located near the head of Cement creek, is to be operated extensively this season. The Tilden Mining company of Chicago is the owner of the claims which are developed to a considerable extent and have a large body of silver-lead ore already exposed in their workings. The ore will be packed down to the Overstep siding and the company will purchase and operate its own pack train.

The old Walrod lead properties, situated about two miles above the mouth of Cement creek, are to be opened up by the present owners. The Cement and Spring creek lime belts need only careful and thorough prospecting, in our opinion, for the discovery of many other ore deposits similar to that found in the old Doctor mine, which yielded many thousands of tons of high per cent. lead carbonates during the many seasons it was operated. Doubtless this section will receive proper attention in the near future, and as a result we shall expect to see new ore producers from that mineral belt.

Arrangements are being consummated whereby operations will be resumed upon the Eureka property. There is probably no proposition more greatly benefited by the increased market price on silver, lead, copper and zinc than this property, as its ores are entirely of this character. The location of the Eureka group of mines being at the summit of Treasury mountain, has heretofore made it impossible to operate the property at a profit under the low price of lead and copper, and no market whatever for zinc, which is found to be in excess of any other mineral there. It would appear that under present ruling prices for these less noble metals these mines could be made to yield good profits under judicious management. The gangue rock of the ores being lime should lessen the treatment charges to such a degree as to overcome in a large measure the haul from the mine to the railroad. The percentage of silver, lead, copper and zinc are much higher than usually found in complex ores. The veinspar in contacts between quartzite and limes and the mineralization very extensive and the possible output of the property limited only to the number of men employed and development of the ore bodies.

DOCTOR-JACK POT LEASES THE DAVENPORT WORKINGS

A lease on the old Davenport workings of the Doctor-Jack Pot company has just been granted to W. S. Ames. This block of ground was formerly worked by Ames and associates who produced some good ore. Other operators have also made good money in working through this shaft.

SHIPMENTS FROM THE SITTING BULL

It is understood that the lessees operating the Sitting Bull claim of the Keystone company are shipping ore which is running from $50 to $100 per ton, one lot having been settled for which netted the shippers $1,200. A winze is being sunk below the 100-foot shaft and a depth of over 50 feet has already been attained. In the bottom of the winze it is stated that the ore averages $40 to the ton.

DELMONICO CLAIM HAS NEW ORE SHOOT

A new ore shoot is reported to have been opened in the Delmonico claim of the Union company on Bull hill. It is said that the ore shoot has been proven for a distance of 50 feet, and that the vein, which is three feet wide, carries values as high as $80 to the ton. The find was made at a depth of 200 feet in the shaft and the lessees are stoping upwards to find the extent of the ore shoot in that direction. The new shaft which has been going down rapidly, has reached a depth of 300 feet and sinking has been suspended temporarily for the purpose of running drifts and crosscuts to explore the territory at this depth. It is understood that the lessees are shipping about eight cars a month.
